

Voters of New York,

This is the Year of Change. We have State Democratic candidates that are uniting to run together as a coalition to address the most pressing issues of the Empire State. Our political system was designed to be for the people and by the people. True representation of the people requires elected officials who know our experiences firsthand. Our coalition consists of the everyday man and woman, who work hard to support his or her family. Our story is the story of New Yorkers. Join us in our effort to take back New York for New Yorkers. The time is now. It is not too late.
